HAS BEEN LIGHT HUNS PER-

ICANS WITH GAS SHELLS,

REMARKABLE BRAVERY

Several Moments Each Showing Bravery Displayed by American Soldiers—Red Cross Worker Kills Nine Huns.

With the American Army in France, April 24.—Gas shells continued to fall along the American front northwest of Toul today, but generally speaking the artillery fire was lighter than usual. There was a slight increase, however, in rifle and machine gun fire against the American position around Seicheprey. A German taken prisoner east of the Meuse has died of his wounds. At one point three German propaganda maroons descended carrying copies of the Gazette-des-Ardennes, which is printed in French.

With the American Army in France, April 24.—The shell town village of Serres, around which is centered the hardest fighting in connection with heavy recent German attacks on American positions, appears to be destined to become a center of the ministry of American participation in the world war. As further details be-

Some known there are disclosed deeds of valor and sacrifice and the influence of American traditions. The correspondence is now permitted to tell of a few cases of individual heroism which will justify an idea as to the metal of which men are made.

A Hero.

One of them, David Griggs of East Hampton, Conn., passed through the ordeal of a barrage at least seven times to carry ammunition to his hard pressed comrades. Twice he was hardly buried under a pile of debris, but he kept at his task. Griggs, who is 19 years old, was so modest he would not tell his story, but insisted on being called one of the comrades pointed to him and said:

"That is the bravest man in the regiment."

Courier Shows Nerve.

Raymond A. Ferris of Medford, Mass., acting as a courier, was thrown off the road twice by the concussion of the shells. He was not discouraged, but exalted by the intensity of the gunfire he reached the point in the rear the line to which he was sent for ammunition and carried out his order. Then he asked for a revolver, saying: "I wanted to go out and fight the Germans, but he fainted from exhaustion. When he regained consciousness his first words were whether his message had been delivered."

the fighting, told the correspondent today of two Americans armed with only automatic pistols charged an enemy machine gun and killed eight Germans and captured the gun. It is also related how one American sharpshooter killed fifteen Germans.

In a village a short distance behind the front line, Gladys and Irene McIntyre, two sisters of Mt. Vernon, N. C., Salvation army representatives,

During the height of the engagement surrounded out to the soldiers coffee, chocolate, doughnuts and much good cheer. They went on with their work while shells were falling around them and wouldn't leave until they were ordered to do so. Now they are called the "Daughters of the regiment." Miss Irene McIntyre said: "We want to go back to our boys. They are the finest fellows in the world, not afraid of anything. Any

Display Enthusiasm.
 "It is inspiring to hear them talk, or they are filled with enthusiasm and determination to fight until the finish. They say they would like to go home, but not until the victory is won. When there is a lull in the trenches they come to our village and ask us to wash the clothes and cook."

At another point near the front a middle aged, motherly woman, also of the Salvation Army, is braving the German shells to dispense comfort to the men. "I had to come to France," she said, "to find out what wonderful joys we raise in America."

NEW REGISTRATION WILL EFFECT FOUR HUNDRED IN COUNTY

Estimate That Nearly Four Hundred Men Becoming Twenty-One Years of Age Since June 5, 1917, Will Register.

Acting upon the request of Governor Philipp, F. P. Starr, corresponding secretary of the Rock county council of defense has practically completed a list of those young men in the county who will be required to register for military service, should the date be set for June 5th. With two districts missing, the second and third wards of Beloit, he has the names of 337 men on the list. Estimating forty more men from these districts, it brings the total up to 377.

The list was carefully compiled by Mr. Starr from the school records with the aid of County Superintendent O. D. Isidore. In making up the memorandum, Mr. Starr proceeded upon the belief that registration day for men twenty-one years of age would be the same as last year, June 5th. Accordingly on this list he has the names of the large majority of these men. The list of names was mailed to the governor this morning and would be the same as last year, June 5th. According to this list the total number of men in the state coming under the selective draft on that date can be estimated.

JANESVILLE SOLDIER WRITES FROM FRANCE

Private Charles Main of Co. M. Writes from "Somewhere in France":

Telling of What Is Being Done in That Company.

Private Charles Main, of Co. M, 128th Inf., has written a very interesting letter from France telling in detail of what is going on over there. The Janesville boys are located. Private Main states that the company is located in a section of France where there are many hills and that the people are going about their work as usual.

He also tells of the trip across the Atlantic and describes vividly how the trip affected some of the boys. His letter follows:

Dear Mother:

I supposed you received a card telling you that I arrived in France O. K. and I suppose you have done nothing but worry ever since, but you must not do that as I am in the best of health, feeling fine and happy and haven't got time to think about the war. This is a very pretty country what I have seen of it. It is a lot different from the United States, as they are far behind in everything. You never saw a building made of wood, everything is stone. We are located in a part of France where the war has not touched and the people go about their work as if it were in peace times.

Now about the trip across the pond. We all enjoyed it very much only for being seasick. I wish you could have seen us boys after we were out a day or two. Some of the boys just laid in their bunks and wanted the ship to sink, they were so sick. I was never so sick in my life.

Well, this country is real nice to us. We didn't even see a submarine and several of the boys, including myself, had hopes of seeing one of them sent to the bottom. From what we hear from the front, the Hun is getting the worst of it, and I think their days are numbered, now that the United States is in the war. While we are here the last camp I didn't receive a bit of mail and the boat that we came over on carried a lot of mail and I am hoping that some of it is for us. These don't worry me as I am in the best of health. I have always wanted to see this part of the world and I think that I will now have the opportunity. I will close for this time.

Yours affectionately, CHARLES MAINE.

BARTENDER LOSER IN LEGAL BATTLE

Judge Grimm Holds Deposition of Thomas Sheedy, Plaintiff, Incompetent, and Decides in Favor of Hotel Company.

After hearing the deposition of Thomas Sheedy, plaintiff in the suit to recover $37.50 wages from the Hotel Co., and considering the testimony given by Robert Bailey and Charles Wile, Judge Grimm yesterday afternoon decided in favor of the hotel firm. It was held that the deposition of Sheedy, read by his attorney, E. H. Ryan, was incompetent and that the plaintiff had no wages due him. All of the testimony given made things look bad for Sheedy, who it is said, is "somewhere in Michigan."

Other Cases.

L. C. Whittey of Edgerton, through his attorney, P. N. Grubb, was rendered judgment for the amount of $22.50 against Andrew Berry. The suit was brought about over a note. There was no appearance on the part of the defendant.

Judge Grimm decided in favor of the defendant in the garnishee action, Harriet Collier vs. Lewis Biven. The court held that the garnishee was exempt under the statutes. Garnishee Edward A. Sheedy represented the plaintiff while E. H. Ryan appeared for the defendant.

Judgment to the amount of $26.84 in favor of the defendant in the action of Wm. A. Taylor vs. A. Taylor was rendered this morning. P. B. McGowan, appearing for the defendant, entered a counter-claim against the plaintiff's suit for $10 for an unpaid check. E. H. Ryan appeared for the plaintiff.

Will Meet: Circle No. 3 of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. T. Craig, 723 Prospect avenue on Thursday afternoon.

Want Licenses: Applications for marriage licenses have been received by County Clerk Edward Larson from Edward A. Peters of Bradley, Ohio, and Betty Baun, Indianapolis; from William Wuchlin, Jr., of Albion, and Orla A. Attlessey of Fulton.

Frederick Bund and John F. Kinn, the Seventh Alternates, File Exemption Claims and Are Temporarily Excused.

Two more names on the Columbus Barracks list were scratched this morning when Frederick Bund of Friendship, Wis., and John F. ### CENSOR COMMENDS WORK OF THE Y. M. C. A.'S ON WAR FRONT IN EUROPE

"The majority of the soldiers would never have written letters home if the Y. M. C. A. had not supplied them with the necessary materials and a room to write in." Thus writes an army censor to C. R. Bearnore of the local Y. M. C. A., in referring to the great work which is being done by the Y. M. C. A.'s on the fighting front.

"I have seen a great deal of the Y. M. C. A. work in both the larger cities of France and in the smaller training centers. I do not know what the French people do when they are not sitting around in the cafes, their theatres are not suited to our tastes and the opera only comes occasionally. In every town I have been in the Y. M. C. A. has had an attractive building devoted almost entirely to entertaining the soldiers in a homelike way.

"They do such a damned good job of it that they never have room enough to accommodate all the men. I have read quite a good deal about the organized sports and entertainments for the soldiers, but I have been over a great deal of France and the Y. M. C. A. has done absolutely everything that is humanely possible for training camps. There is nothing but the Y. M. C. A."

According to Mr. Bearnore this is the universal opinion of all soldiers, whether in France or in the training or cantonments in this country.

THREE ROCK COUNTY MEN QUALIFY AS OFFICERS

Included in the lists of the men who qualified at the third series of officers' training camps, which have just been completed, are the names of three Rock county young men. Ryan, is mentioned and two Beloit young men.

Joseph Ryan was in the camp held at Camp Dodge and qualified in the field artillery branch. The two Beloit men also qualified in the field artillery service. The Beloit men are: H. Kilbourn, trained at Camp Gordon, Georgia, and Lowry Moore, trained at Fort Oglethorpe.

JANESVILLE NEARING MILLION DOLLAR MARK

TOTAL THIS AFTERNOON WAS

APPEAL TO FARMERS

Rock County Farmers Are Not Holding
Their Own in Campaign.—
All Townships Below
Quota.

*****
Janesville's Quota ..... $800,000
Already Subscribed ..... $61,550
Estimated Total ..... 1,000,000

Very discouraging reports are being received at Liberty Loan Headquarters from the country workers. With the country campaign two days old a little over $2,000 has been subscribed and this is less than half of what should be subscribed at this time. A. P. Lovejoy stated this morning that at least $100,000 of Rock County are not doing their share, and an appeal is being made to them to get in line with the city, county and state. Lovejoy said that the city has been purchasing. It has been figured that approximately $25,000 should be subscribed from each township and at the present time there is not township that has subscribed half of this amount.

Liberty loan salesmen have been working in the county for the past two days with very discouraging results. This morning six autos were sent to Bradford, two to Rock, one to the town of Janesville and one to Center. Tomorrow morning the salesmen will invade the township of Harmony. A. P. Lovejoy is also making an appeal for more liberty bond salesmen. Twenty of autos can be gotten but the city seems to be reluctant about going into the country to work.

This city is still gaining and creeping nearer the $1,000,000 mark each day. The total as it stands late this afternoon is $901,850. With the Boy Scouts starting out on Saturday for their drive and still several local groups to be organized, the indications are that Janesville will go over the million dollar mark in grand style and will set a figure that Beloit will have to work hard to beat.

Beloit opened their drive yesterday with subscriptions totaling $412,000 for the first day. Their quota is $300,000 and they are working to beat this city.

Liberty Loan headquarters on North Main street will remain open for several days and the clerical force is still working at headquarters. A. P. Lovejoy stated this morning that the result in this city is most gratifying and that the residents of Janesville should feel proud of the record they have made in the Third Liberty Loan campaign.

WILL HONOR PARENTS OF LOCAL SOLDIERS

Fathers and Mothers of Janesville Boys Now in Service Will Be Honored on Liberty Day.

In accordance with the proclamation of President Wilson designating Friday as Liberty Day, the committee in charge of the parade is making plans to honor the fathers and mothers of the Janesville boys who are now in the service of Uncle Sam.

Louis Levy, who has charge of this parade, is making plans to have every father and mother of a soldier in this city march in the parade. The parents are asked to assemble at the Y. M. C. A. at three o'clock Friday afternoon. Service flags will be given the ladies before the start of the parade and automobiles will be on hand for the fathers or mothers who are not able to walk. The parents will be asked to walk from the Y. M. C. A. to the Court House park, where the exercises will be held.

It is the desire of the committee at this time to pay honor to the fathers and mothers of the Janesville soldiers and every father and mother in the city of Janesville who has a son in the service should at all cost get to the Y. M. C. A. to take part in the parade. This is the first opportunity the citizens of Janesville have had to honor the parents of the local boys who have left the city gladly to do their bit for their country. It is going to be parents' day in Janesville.

METHODIST BOWLERS ARE WINNERS OF FAST GAME

Methodist bowlers walloped the daylights out of the Baptist rollers who came with the determination to win, but had no show against the classy rolling of the Methodists led by Dr. S. F. Richards, who spun the maples around the floor for a score of 213 in the first game. Not at any time throughout the three games did the Methodists come below 825. The Baptists, although pulling a good game, were outclassed by the Methodists. Oskan, who bowled for the Baptists, had a high score of 185 to his credit in the first game. The scores follow:

BOAT HOUSES PROVE PREY FOR BURGLARS

Several Boat Houses on West Bank of River North of Railroad Bridge Entered by Thieves.

Chief of Police Peter Champion has received several complaints in the past few days relative to the burglarizing of the boat houses on the west bank of Rock River north of the upper railroad bridge.

The boat houses which were entered, were owned by Messrs. Drafsch, Snyder, Grampe, Sherer, Taylor, Moore, Knuth, Marsh, and Dugan. The places were entered on Monday week ago and were again entered last Monday.

Several articles, including oil cups, spark plugs, batteries, and fish poles were taken from all the boat houses.

Entrance was gained to the boat houses by breaking the locks and one boat house which had an extra strong lock, was forced open by the burglars.

The burglars bored four holes in the lock. Besides taking what they desired, they have taken other articles which they could not use and thrown them in the water.

The Launch Club has offered a reward of twenty-five dollars for the apprehension of the guilty party.

WILL GIVE EVIDENCE BEFORE GRAND JURY

Chief of Police P. D. Champion and Thomas Morrissey Are Called to Federal Court Session at Superior.

Chief of Police Peter D. Champion and Officers Thomas Morrissey have gone to Superior, where they were subpoenaed to appear at the session of the federal court before a grand jury. When they left last night they had not as yet been informed as to what cases would be before the court, but it is thought that there now are at least in Janesville, charged with giving liquor to soldiers, will be tried at that time.

Six arrests have been made by the police in Janesville of men charged with either purchasing or giving liquor to army men and all have been taken to Madison by the federal authorities to await their trial. As this is the first session of the federal court since the men were arrested, it is thought that all of them will be tried.

A law of giving liquor to soldiers is stipulated by law for men convicted of giving liquor to soldiers and the federal authorities are pushing the actions to bring a stop to the practice. Since the six men here were arrested they have been held in custody at Madison or allowed to go under heavy bonds.

The four young men who are charged with stealing automobile to make "joy rides," appeared before Judge Meier in his office late yesterday afternoon and were given a severe lecture. Not having definitely decided upon the action that he will take in these cases, the judge decided to hold the case open for one month and during that time watch the actions of the young men to determine what stand he will take. They were ordered to appear before the court at the end of the month's time.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND FURNISHING SUPPLIES TO SAMMIES IN FRANCE

Washington, D. C., April 24.—That thousands of tons of supplies are being purchased in France and Great Britain for the American troops already on the firing line is the statement of Herbert Corson, secretary of the National Geographic Society, a portion of which the Society issues as the following war geography bulletin:

"The American army is 3,000 miles away from its home base, and it is increasingly feeling the strain of more than three years of war. The number of Americans is added to each week. With the growth of the army the daily need for clothing and food has grown in proportion.

"Everything was needed at once. Cloth for uniforms was bought in the United States, but the hats and blankets, France furnished cannon and tents, and pots and pans, and food. The rocky army was billeted in peasants' cottages until material for huts could be found and the huts built.

"Paris was drained of all sorts of office material. I doubt if there is a good desk in this country or even a chair to be found there today. The American army reached France as bare as a fish and it had to be provided for. Naturally enough, the big out of the chimney, this forced draft of demand, three times the peace value was a fair price.

"I must have tents and blankets and coats for my men, said the buyer, and the telephone message that came to one buyer at noon one day.

"There isn't a tent nor a blanket nor a coat in town, said the buyer. 'Usually that would have ended the conversation. But the man at the other end of the telephone was in earnest.

"Then 250 men will sleep in the snow tonight and cover themselves with a ditch," he said. 'Don't tell me that. He did not attempt to save dollars at the cost of lives and weary days. If he had tried not to save money that way, he would have bought it for his job. Little by little, order came out of original chaos. The things that were needed before the army could set up shop in France—before it could even open the shop door—were bought at the best prices possible. Then began the work of organizing the business. The army began to plan ahead and cut out waste.

"The Purchasing Board was created. It is composed of the purchasing officers of the various army departments. It is the purchasing officers' board. The Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross have a sort of collateral relationship to the board, for both organizations are often in the market for the things the army needs. At each meeting the purchasing officers pool their discoveries and their needs.

"Scouts have ransacked France and England and neutral Europe for de-need in a scattering fashion. Then it became obvious that if only a few tents were needed at the moment, the day would come when tents by the thousands would be necessary. Therefore the man who found tents for sale—or anything else—bought all he could if the price was right. Now the active units. That is known as the uniform equipment. It is apparent that a unit of 25,000 men will always need certain things. It is equally apparent that there is no close relation between 25,000 railroad ties and 25,000 men. Sometimes the exceptional equipment comes into play."

RAINBOW'S END

A NOVEL
By REX BEACH
Author of
"The Iron Trail," "The Spoilers,"
"Heart of the Sunset," etc.

Copyright by Harper and Brothers
"Isn't it likely to rain on us?"
"It's almost sure to."

Miss Evans pondered this prospect; then she laughed. "It must feel rainy," she said.

There were three other members of the traveling party, men who knew something of the country round about; they were good fighters, doubtless, but in spite of their shiny new weapons they resembled soldiers even less than did their major. All were dressed as they had been when they left New York; one even wore a derby hat and polished patent-leather shoes. Nevertheless Norine Evans thought the little cavalcade presented quite a martial appearance as it fled away into the jungle.

The first few miles were trying, for the coast was swampy and thickly grown up to underbrush; but in time the jungle gave place to higher timber and to open savannas deep in guinea grass. Soon after noon the travelers came to a farm, the owner of which was known to one of the guides, and here a stop was made in order to secure horses and food.

Johnnie, who was badly fagged from the previous night's work, found a shady spot and stretched himself out for a nap.

"The shade was grateful," O'Reilly enjoyed his sleep.

The party had penetrated to the foothills of the Sierra de Cubitas, and as they ascended, the scenery changed, turely the Cuban landscape anything but pleasing. It is a smiling island. It has been said, too, that everything in it is friendly to man; the people are amiable, warm-hearted; the animals and insects are harmless. But here in the Cubitas range all was different. The land was stern and forbidding; canyons deep and damp raised dripping walls to the sky; bridge paths skirted ledges that were bold and fearsome, or lost themselves in gloomy jungles as noisome as Spanish dungeons. Hidden away in these fastnesses, the rebel government had established its capital. Here, safe from surprise, the soldiers of Gomez and Maceo and Garcia rested between attacks, nursing their wounded and recharging their strength for further sallies.

It was a strange sort of government—no nation ever had a stranger—for the state buildings were huts of bark and leaves, the army was uniformed in rags. Cook fires smoldered in the open glades; cavalry horses grazed in the grassy streets, and wood smoke drifted over them.

The second evening brought O'Reilly and Miss Evans safely through, and at news of the expedition's success a pack train was made ready to go to its assistance. Norine's letter from the New York junta was read, and the young woman was warmly welcomed. One of the better huts was vacated for her use, and the officers of the provisional government called to pay their respects.

There were other Americans in Cubitas, as O'Reilly soon discovered. During his first inspection of the village he heard himself hailed in his own language, and a young man in dirty white trousers and jacket strode toward him.

"Welcome to our city!" the stranger cried. "I'm Judson, captain of artillery, departamento del Oriente; and you're the fellow who came with the quinine lady, aren't you?"

O'Reilly acknowledged his identity, and Judson grinned. "I have you met the old man," he inquired—"General Gomez?"

"No; I'd like to meet him."

"Come along, then; I'll introduce you."

Gen. Maximino Gomez, father of patriots, bulwark of the Cuban cause, was seated in a hummock, reading some letters; O'Reilly recognized him instantly from the many pictures he had seen. He looked up at Judson's salute and then turned a pair of brilliant eyes, as hard as glass, upon O'Reilly. His was an irascible, brooding face; it had in it something of the sternness, the excited detachment, of the eagle, and O'Reilly gained a hint of the personality behind it. Maximino Gomez was counted one of the world's ablest guerrilla leaders; and indeed it had required the quenchless enthusiasm of a real military genius to fuse into a homogeneous fighting force the ill-assorted rabble of nondescripts whom Gomez led, to school them in privation and to render them sufficiently mobile to defy successfully ten times their number of trained troops. This, however, was precisely what the old Porto Rican had done, and in doing it he had won the admiration of military students.

With a bluntness not unkind he asked O'Reilly what had brought him to Cuba.

When O'Reilly explained the reason for his presence the old fighter nodded.

"So? You wish to go west, eh?"

"Yes, sir. I want to find Colonel Lopez."

"Lopez? Miguel Lopez?" the general inquired quickly. "Well, you won't have to look far for him." General Gomez' leathery countenance lightened into a smile. "He happens to be right here in Cubitas." Calling Judson to him, he said: "Amigo, take Mr. O'Reilly to Colonel Lopez; you will find him somewhere about. I am sorry we are not to have this young fellow for a soldier; he looks like a real man and—quite equal to five quintos, eh?"

It was the habit of the Cubans to refer to their enemies as quintos—the fifth part of a man! With a wave of his hand Gomez returned to his reading.

Col. Miguel Lopez, a handsome, animated fellow, took O'Reilly's hand in a hearty clasp when they were introduced; but a moment later his smile gave way to a frown and his brow darkened.

"So! You are that O'Reilly from Matanzas," said he. "I know you now, but—I never expected you would meet."

"Esteban Varona told you about me, did he not?"

The colonel inclined his head.

"I'm here at last, after the devil's own time. I've been trying every way to get through. The Spaniards stopped me at Puerto Principe—they seat me back home, you know. I've been perfectly crazy. I—You—O'Reilly swallowed hard. "You know where Esteban is? Tell me—"

"Have you heard nothing?"

"Nothing whatever. That is, nothing since Rosa, his sister—You understand, she and I are engaged—"

"Yes, yes; Esteban told me all about you."

Something in the Cuban's gravity of manner gave O'Reilly warning. A sudden fear assailed him. His voice shook as he asked:

"What is it? Not bad news?"

There was no need for the officer to answer. In his averted gaze O'Reilly read confirmation of his sickening apprehensions.

"Tell me! Which one?" he whispered.

"Both!"

O'Reilly recoiled; a spasm distorted his chalky face. He began to shake weakly, and his fingers plucked aimlessly at each other.

Lopez took him by the arm. "Try to control yourself," said he. "Sit here while I try to tell you what little I know. Or would it not be better to wait awhile, until you are calmer?" As the young man made no answer, except to stare at him in a white agony of suspense, he sighed:

Druggists Here Have Something New for Colds

Applied Externally, the Body Heat
Releases Incredibly in Vapor Form.

COLDS GO OVER NIGHT
CROP IN 15 MINUTES

The Manufacturers Have Authorized the Local Druggists to Sell Any of the Three Sizes, 25c, 50c, or $1.00, on 30 Days' Trial.

Since its introduction here a short time ago, the new treatment for cold troubles, known as Vick's VapoRub, has aroused a great deal of interest among local people, especially among mothers with small children.

Local druggists report that numbers have taken advantage of their 30 days' trial offer to see if a 25c jar of VapoRub really will relieve these troubles externally, without having to "dose" with nauseous internal medicines.

For croup, coughs, chest colds; sore throat or bronchitis, apply VapoRub well over the throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

In addition, VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest. For head colds, catarrh, hay fever, or asthmatic troubles, VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled.

You have to try this treatment to realize its remarkable effect in all cases of cold troubles.

"I will tell you all I know—what isn't much. Esteban Varona came to me soon after he and his sister had fled from their home; he wanted to join my forces, but we were harassed on every side, and I didn't dare take the girl—no woman could have endured the hardships we suffered." So I convinced him that his first duty was to her, rather than to his country, and he agreed. He was a fine boy! He had spirit. He bought some stolen rifles and armed a band of his own—which wasn't a bad idea. I used to hear about him. Nobody cared to molest him, I can tell you, until finally he killed some of the regular troops. Then of course they went after him. Meanwhile he managed to destroy his own plantations, which Cuto had robbed him of. You know Cuto?"

"Yes."

"Well, Esteban put an end to him after a while; rode right up to La Joya one night, broke in the door, and munched the scoundrel in his bed. But there was a mistake of some sort. It seems that a body of Cobo's volunteers were somewhere close by, and the two parties met. I have never learned all the details of the affair, and the stories of that fight which came to me are too preposterous for belief. Still, Esteban and his men must have fought like demons, for they killed some incredible number. But they were human—they could not defeat a regiment. It seems that only one or two of them escaped."

"Esteban? Did he—"

Colonel Lopez nodded; then he said gravely: "Cobo takes no prisoners. I was in the Rubi hills at the time, fighting hard, and it was six weeks before I got back into Matanzas. Naturally, when I heard what happened, I tried to find the girl, but Weyer was concentrating the pacificos by the time, and there was nobody left in the Yumuri; it was a desert."

"Then you don't know positively that she—"

"Wait. There is no doubt that the boy was killed, but of Rosa's fate I can only form my own opinion. However, one of Esteban's men joined my troops later, and I not only learned something about the girl, but also why Esteban had been so relentlessly pursued. It was all Cobo's doings. You have heard of the fellow? No? Well, you will." The speaker's tone was eloquent of hatred. "He is worse than the worst of them—a monster! He had seen Miss Varona. She was a beautiful girl."

"Go on!" whispered the lover.

"I discovered that she didn't at first obey Weyer's edict. She and the two negroes—they were former slaves of her father, I believe—took refuge in the Pan de Matanzas. Later on, Cobo's men made a raid and—killed a great many. Some few escaped into the high ravines, but Miss Varona was not one of them. Out of regard for Esteban I made careful search, but I could find no trace of her."

"And yet you don't know what happened?" O'Reilly ventured. "You're not sure?"

"No, but I tell you again Cobo's men take no prisoners. When I heard about

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

there is a standing order to spare neither Cobo nor any of his assassins; they neither expect nor receive quarter from us. Now, companero—"the Cuban dropped a hand on O'Reilly's bowed head—"I am sorry that I had to bring you such evil tidings, but we are men—and this is war."

"No, no! It isn't war—it's merciless savagery! To murder children and to outrage women—why, that violates all the ethics of warfare."

"Ethics?" the colonel cried harshly. "Ethics? Hell is without ethics. Why look for ethics in war? Violence—injustice—insanity—chaos—that is war. It is man's agony—woman's despair. It is a defiance of God. War is without mercy, without law; it is, well, it is the absence of all law, all good."

It was some time before O'Reilly spoke; then he said, quietly: "I am not going back. I am going to stay here and look for Rosa."

Dinner Stories

Whistler was once taken by a friend to the home of a newly rich millionaire who had been gathering a collection of dubious paintings supposedly by old masters. After Whistler had viewed the collection his friend said:

"Now, Whistler, Mr. Blank wants to make provision in his will to bequeath these paintings, and he would like a suggestion from you as to which institution to give them."

Promptly came this answer: "The East End Institution for the Blind."

There are, of course, anecdotes about General Pershing going about all of them to his credit, it need hardly be said. But this is one which General Pershing himself is fond of telling, and it is always much relished by his hearers. It happened when the general was on the Mexican border. A regiment was marching by when it met a small, ragged Irish boy holding tight to a donkey, which had become fractious owing to the noise of the regimental band. It was all his small master could do to hold him. As the men swung by somebody in the ranks called out: "Say, what are you holding your little brother so tight for?"

"Because," replied this Irish kid, "he sees you guys, and I'm afraid he might enlist."
